

Adjust exposure while taking a photo

If your photos are coming out too dark or too bright, you can use this trick to adjust the exposure.

1. In the camera app, get ready to take your photo but do not tap the shutter button.
2. Tap the screen once. Generally, it is best to tap the subject's face because the camera will try to focus wherever you tap.
3. A square will appear with a sun icon next to it. Tap and drag the sun icon up or down to adjust the exposure.

4. Once the exposure looks right, tap the shutter button to take your picture.
